- Project overview
- Key findings
- Next steps

Objectives

- Raise the profile
- Highlight challenges
- Share expertise
- Explore support
- Identify process improvements
- Encourage stakeholder engagement

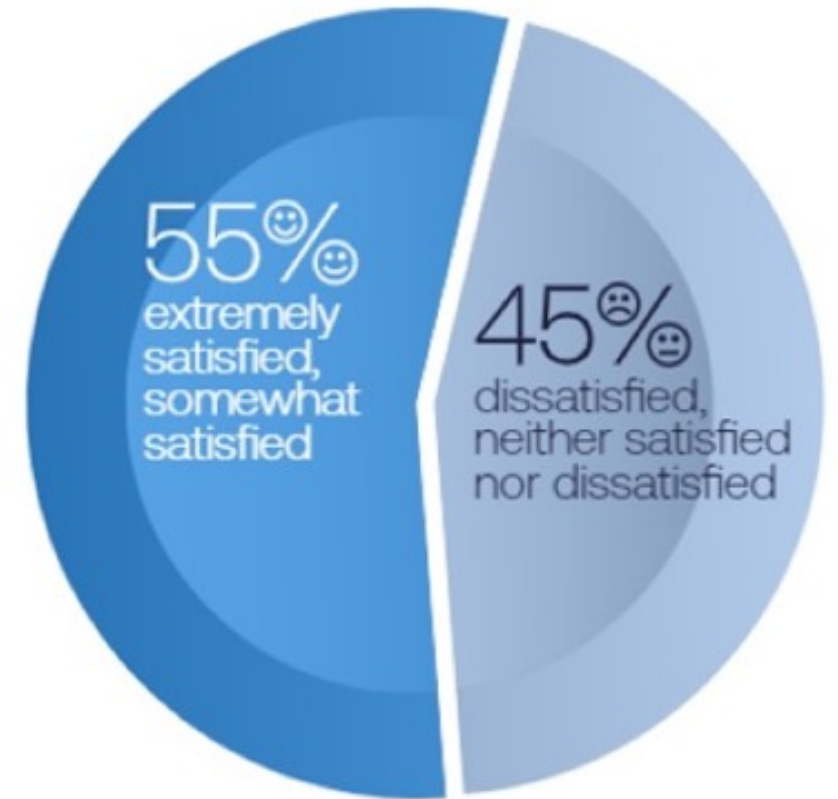

Five key themes explored

- Identity of the role
- Internal and external support
- Retention factors
- Developing into the role
- Relationships with stakeholders

Some key findings

- Lack of job satisfaction
- Not enough training and development
- Unclear career routes
- Positives: good teams, valuable contribution
- Difficulties: workload and capacity

Identity of the role

- ❑ Title and scope of role not clear
- ❑ Lack of awareness
- ❑ Lack of visibility
- ❑ Unclear connection with HR

Opportunities:

- Raise awareness
- Task share with general HR
- Develop professional standards

Internal and external support

- ❑ Regional networks
- ❑ Support within teams
- ❑ Support from senior management

Opportunities:

- Support the networks
- Increase internal collaboration

Retention factors

- ❑ Connection with the role
- ❑ Diversity of the job
- ❑ Management of the workload

Opportunities:

- Communicate role authentically
- Promote the variety of work
- Check in regularly

Developing in the role

- ❑ Application of HR knowledge
- ❑ Relevance of training opportunities
- ❑ Being proactive in your role
- ❑ Growth opportunities

Opportunities:

- Run training needs analysis
- Develop career pathways
- Look at alternative career structures
- Develop regional/national training
- Consider national accreditation

Relationships with stakeholders

- ❑ Communication
- ❑ Escalation
- ❑ Timeframes for information

Opportunities:

- Strengthen relationship with local HEE
- Ensure there is a range of contacts
- Look at routes for cascading information

Next steps

- Engagement with stakeholders, including employers
- Discussion of how this fits with NHS England Future of HR and OD strategy
- Continued promotion of the role
- Reviewing potential for NHS Employers actions
- Challenge: industrial action context and capacity
